17th European Doctoral Conference in Nursing Science. Maastricht Netherlands and visit to a local critical care unit, 21st -23rd June 2018: Nadeem Khan Professional Development Nurse and a PhD student

I work as a professional development nurse in critical care and a part time PhD student. My main interest is workforce development within the critical care areas. I strongly believe that by improving working conditions and workforce stability we could overcome the cha was done about all aspects of critical care nursing. I had the opportunity to ask questions specifically about how they manage their workforce but also managed to discuss other aspects
